

Great God, Whose Story

EDMONTON NEW

1. Great God, whose sto - ry age to age Is sung by pro - phet,
2. In depths of earth you wove each frame And called each pre - cious
3. The hymns of saints of yes - ter - days And Still sound when we our
4. By song, by sign, by word, by meal your lov - ing pres - ence po - et, sage, Cre - a - tion's web, spun ly with courts your hands And one - by name; Now a in - your ho - ly with we view How voic - es raise; And in gen - er - a - tions yet to as be Take is re - vealed; Oh, may our sto - ries join as one, Cre - cast - ing in - to myr - iad in - strands, Tells out your love in all your works are joined in you - A three - fold cord, not hope in ev - 'ry lit - an - y; For through the Word, God a - tor, Christ, and Spi - rit, One, That we may weave through time and space, A sto - ried tap - es - try of grace.

11
light un - done: Self, Neigh - bor, God, fu - en - twined in one.
new cre - a - tes, The past and fu - ture in - ter - laced.
end - less days A sto - ried ta - pes - try of grace.

Text: Susan Palo Cherwien, Images drawn from Psalm 139:13, 15; Eccl. 4:12

Tune: EDMONTON NEW, David Cherwien.

Copyright ©2013 Susan Palo Cherwien and David Cherwien

The hymn, "Great God, Whose Story," was written by Dr. David Cherwien and Susan Palo Cherwien for the 2014 National Lutheran Anglican Worship Conference. The conference, "Weaving Strands: Liturgy for Living," will be held July 20-23, 2014, in Edmonton Alberta. Through the original words and music of this hymn, we are able to envision and rejoice in the many ways our lives, our worship and our relationship to God and to others are woven together. As preparation for the National Worship Conference, and as a gift to your congregation, please use this hymn as part of your liturgy--your time of worship.